

CREATIVE PIONEER

Ashley Miles

Ashley chose to attend Interactive Media class because she likes to draw cartoons and create her own art. Her mom has always encouraged her creativity and "Prosser just seemed to be the right fit for my interests". Mr. Sickles, Prosser's Interactive Media instructor comments that, "she embodies the right skills of creativity and self-discipline to be successful in the program and for her future." Ashley is also a Prosser Ambassador, is certified in Microsoft Word and working toward an IC3 certification. Ashley Miles attends Providence High School and is involved in the Art Club, Literary Magazine club, National Technical Honor Society, National Art Honor Society and boasts a 3.47 GPA. When not in school, Ashley interns at the Arts Council of Southern Indiana and works part time at Baptist Health Floyd Hospital as a food ambassador. Her future plans involve attending Spalding University this fall and eventually using her computer technology skillset to work at an advertising agency.

Ashley is a senior from Providence High School and her parents are George and Karen Miles.

SKY HIGH GOALS

Ian Sparks

"I've liked planes since I was a kid, and I want to be a pilot as well as a mechanic. When I'm not flying, I want to be able to work on the mechanics of the planes." Ian Sparks toured Prosser and attended Prosser's Open House when he was an underclassman. He said he learned more about careers in aviation when Mr. David Cook, the Vincennes University instructor who teaches Prosser's aviation class, talked with him during his visits to Prosser. During the two-year Aviation course, Ian will earn eighteen VU dual college credits, preparing him to enroll in the Vincennes University Aviation Flight Program. He is confident to reach his goal of having a private pilot certificate as well as a commercial pilot certificate when he finishes the VU Aviation Flight two-year associate degree program. In addition, Ian plans to continue his education in VU's Aviation Maintenance Program to earn another associates degree or will transfer to Purdue University to earn his bachelor's degree at the Aviation Technology Center. Ian just recently achieved his Eagle Scout rank completing the Veteran's Memorial Wall at Hero Rewards in Corydon as his project.

GETTING SERIOUS Sophia Traub

When Sophia Traub decides to do something she is going to take it serious and work hard. She became interested in Prosser because of the 'hands on' nature of the program. Her highlight thus far has been building and framing the home in Prosser's subdivision Builders Ridge. Her favorite task has been hammering, gluing, and screwing in drywall. Sophia completed her job shadow at Mark's Home improvement which peaked her interest in the construction field. Sophia's construction technology teacher Ron Zimmer remarks "Sophia has good attendance and a great work ethic. Sophia has used knowledge from the classroom to become a valuable crew member in the construction of our house in builders ridge subdivision". Sophia currently is working to earn 6 Ivy Tech college credits. In her spare time, she enjoys hanging out with friends and playing soccer where she is best at defensive positions.

OXMOOR AUTO GROUP

Establishes $50,000 award for Prosser Students

In August, Prosser met a leadership team from Oxmoor Auto Group to discuss possible ways their organization could partner with Prosser. Since this initial meeting, several Prosser/Oxmoor partnership programs have been established. Oxmoor Auto Group now not only allows students to job shadow, extern, and intern at their facilities, they also have established a shuttle system to transport the participating students to and from their facilities. Most recently, Oxmoor Auto Group announced they will sponsor an annual Auto/Diesel Scholarship that will include a $500 award, a job offer, full college reimbursement, and a $50,000 cash bonus awarded after 10 years of service.
